Ejection is a lightweight widget whose sole purpose it to provide you direct access to ejecting or loading the CD tray of your computer. You can do this from the desktop or sidebar with the simple click of a button. This application can come in handy to users who frequently work with multimedia applications and insert numerous CDs and DVDs into the computer on a day-to-day basis. After a brief installation procedure that does not require any special attention from the user, you can check out the small frame that resembles an

Eject button; you can move it to any position on the screen, with the help of the mouse cursor. Clicking any point on the frame either ejects or loads the CD tray. Unfortunately, Ejection does not integrate any configuration settings of its own. But, thanks to the default options provided by the operating system, you can open the right-click menu to make some adjustments. Therefore, you can make the frame stay on top of other windows, as well as set its opacity level to a predefined value, ranging between 20% and 100%. Ejection is very light on the system resources, as it requires only a small amount of CPU and system memory. It has a good response time and works smoothly, without making the operating system hang, crash or pop up error dialogs. Too bad it has not been updated for a very long time. Nevertheless, thanks to its intuitive layout and overall simplicity, Ejection should please the entire audience. Download Ejection Ejection is a lightweight widget whose sole purpose it to provide you direct access to ejecting or loading the CD tray of your computer. Coates New User Thursday, 13 February 2018 17:44 Ejecting a cd is one of the most basic tasks you can do with any cd drive. THe problem is that there are often non-obvious buttons which will do what you expect, with a combination of keys, scroll wheel, or just a mouse click. While my preferred tool is clicking the Load button in the tray to bring it down, with this tool, you just have to click once to open/close the tray.Be My Beesh Be My Beesh is a website where you can create your own personalized cartoon characters. Users upload photos and add a variety of characters from a set of options. The site adds facial features to the characters, such as a mustache, beard, or eye shadow. Users then set the background and the clothes worn by the character. The finished cartoon is then downloadable as an image or as a video file. The free-to-use website has more than a million users. The website launched in 2010 as BeMyFaces.com, where it was one of the most popular sites. It was renamed to Be My Beesh in 2016. References External links Category:Image sharing websites Category:Internet properties established in 2010 Category:American websitesThe present invention relates to a pushbutton switch for use in computer keyboards. In particular, the present invention relates to a miniature, resilient type switch having a substantially rectangular housing with a more curved cross section than the conventional rectangular cross section resilient type switches. A conventional miniature type pushbutton switch is illustrated in FIG. 1 and generally indicated by the reference character P. The miniature type pushbutton switch P includes a substantially rectangular housing 2 which is relatively flat and has a first side wall 4 and a second side wall 6. A resilient snap-acting mechanism 8 is mounted in the housing 2. The snap-acting mechanism 8 includes a generally U-shaped
